To Parties of Interest in Real Estate Transactions:

When you can take a real estate transaction that benefits buyer, seller, broker and a charitable entity, you do indeed have a win-win-win-win scenario! What an exciting concept!

In a new seminar offered by the leading subject matter expert in the field of charitable gifts of real estate, Mr. Chase V. Magnuson elucidates on this seldom explored specialty of the real estate community. Using a power point presentation and discussions of actual transactions, Mr. Magnuson leads the class through a somewhat complex but fascinating explanation of the world of charitable donations and the real estate community's role in this field.

I believe this seminar is a valuable addition to the continuing education curriculum of real estate brokers. It affords them a new and useful tool that can only enhance their service to clients. I personally intend to explore this opportunity further and hope I will be working with Mr. Magnuson in his field of expertise soon.

Sincerely,

Vic Bruno
